Dear New Fairchild Warrior

Welcome to Fairchild Air Force Base and Washington State's Inland Empire! Fairchild AFB is home to the 92d Air Refueling Wing (AMC), 141st Air Refueling Wing (ANG), 336th Training Group (AETC), and other joint associate units. Fairchild AFB employs a diverse team of professionals ready to provide the robust, flexible capabilities required of our Total Force team in the 21st century. You will find Team Fairchild's standards high and your job both challenging and rewarding. Regardless of your role here, you can be sure your talents will be put to good use.

We enjoy an excellent relationship with our Spokane area neighbors. Base personnel have always been actively involved in the community, representing themselves and the Air Force with pride. Fairchild is also one of the finest family bases you will find anywhere, with many activities to meet each family member's interests, as well as plenty of fun the whole family can enjoy.

Your sponsor package contains pertinent information on base facilities, services and local conditions. It also contains very important preparation tips you need to know and plan for in making your move. In addition to these sponsor materials, a great resource that can help familiarize you with our base is our local website at <http://www.fairchildfun.com> or <https://private.fairchild.amc.af.mil>. Should you need further information feel free to contact your sponsor or the Airman & Family Readiness Center at (509) 247-2246. Please plan on attending our newcomers' orientation program entitled "Right Start." Over 40 agencies are represented and child care is provided so bring your spouse!

When you arrive at Fairchild, you will find our focus is on the mission, people, families, and the community. We achieve our goals in these areas through teamwork, trust, and engaged leaders. As Airmen, our obligation is to sustain a high state of readiness, and it is through a team effort that we meet these challenges with the excellence our nation demands. Your commitment and contribution will be vital to our continued success. Welcome to the team!
